EUROPE NEWS FOR BIG FIGHT

PARIS, Oct. 1.—That war in the Balkans is inevitable was the declaration made here today by J. P. Stancoff, Bulgarian minister to France. He recapitulated what he alleged were Turkish acts of aggression towards his countrymen, and declared that the maintenance of peace is now impossible.

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—More than 200,000 soldiers are on the march today throughout the Balkans, Russia and Austria in preparation for war, in which the actual warfare does not begin.

The military movements in Southern Austria and Poland are in anticipation of an eventually inevitable great power. Both the Austro-Hungarian and Russian governments are covering great masses of troops near the southern frontier in proximity to the Balkan border.

Reports received by the diplomatic press in Constantinople and in the capital of European Turkey contrast the situation as critical.

Turkish Fight Turn Down.
An actual declaration of war, however, is not expected before the expiration of a fortnight, if it comes at all. All the European chancelleries are working to avert an outbreak of hostilities.

Hostilities from Bulgaria, Hungary, and Serbia, however, are not expected to stop. The Turkish flag was torn down and trampled upon. Turkish authorities of the vilayets of Adana and Erzerum are putting Turkish soldiers on all trains between Constantinople and this city. Billions of dollars in Turkish gold are being holed up.

Servia Seeks Big Loan.
From Constantinople comes news of a conference of the foreign diplomats in the French embassy. It was decided that another joint appeal should be made to the French government to take military measures toward the Balkan states in support of the Servian government.

The Servian government is reported to be negotiating in Paris for a $2,000,000 loan, according to reports from Belgrade. King Peter, dressed in the uniform of a private, was present at the signing of the loan. There was a great demonstration of loyalty among soldiers and civilians alike when he appeared.

FATAL WRECK ON THE L. & N. RAILROAD

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—One man was killed and a score of persons were injured, none of them fatally, when Louisville & Nashville passenger train No. 7 was wrecked at Hayes Mill, near Athens, Ala., early today.

DYNAMITE CASES TRIED TOGETHER; ORTIE M'NAMIGAL PLEADS GUILTY

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—After grant separate trials to the five defendants in the dynamite conspiracy case today, Judge A. B. Anderson again consolidated the hearings on a further motion of the district attorney. The case will be tried together, that of Daniel J. Brophy, who is unable to be in court, being excepted.

Ortie M'Namigal pleaded guilty to every count in the indictment against him, while Olat Dwyane and Eugene Cline, Western labor leaders, pleaded not guilty.

50-CENT JUMP IN COAL TODAY

Coal went up fifty cents more a ton today in Greater Boston because of the small delivery, and the large concern are said to be prepared to follow suit at once. The new prices are: Net, $4.25; gross, $4.75; net, $4.75; gross, $5.25.

One dealer who is thoroughly familiar with the market said the fear of the rise in prices is causing a run on the Boston city supply exactly like a run on a bank. Coal in the pocket here has been sold and three times over, and the companies refuse to sell any more.

The dealer explained that the public would have to wait in line to get coal, and that the companies would be forced to raise the price for coal for every day. It is a shortage here in the city by no means unusual.

PRESIDENT TAFT MAKES SPEECHES FOR TALKING MACHINE

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—More of President Taft's time today was given up to making campaign speeches into talking machines. All the important figures were touched upon and the records will be sent broadcast over the country.

The President's partner at golf before leaving was Edwin G. Ross. Among the callers of the summer White House were Max Baer of Chicago, Pierre L. Baudouin, French ambassador, and French naval officer, who came to talk to the President. He also saw Mr. J. P. Morgan, and Walter R. Wilson of Illinois, assistant national Republican treasurer.

WOMAN WHO TRIED TO BRIBE JUDGE FINED

Mrs. Catherine Gersley of No. 658 Devon street, South Boston, was fined $100 today in the Boston District Court for trying to bribe Chief Justice Bolster and was also fined $100. The sentence was imposed to give the woman time to pay her fine. Chief Justice Bolster read the letter which Mrs. Gersley sent him offering him a bribe of $100 if he would appoint her court interpreter.

'L' SHOWS DEFICIT OF $491,000

The annual report of the Boston Elevated Railway Company for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, which includes the first three weeks of the current strike, shows a deficit of $491,000, as against a surplus of $155,400 for the previous year.

The current strike began June 7 and a preliminary settlement was effected July 20. The nearly month of the strike is included in the period of the fiscal year while the present report covers.

Gross Income Larger.
The gross income this year was larger than last year, but the operating charges were more than $200,000 greater, which made the net income over $200,000 less than the year before. The balance this year was $705,338, compared with a balance of $1,250,440 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911.

WIFE WANTS HER PRESENTS BACK

The story of "I Want My Presents Back" is played out in real life in the case of Florence S. Morgan of Somerville, who has brought a suit against her husband, Carl H. Morgan, asking that he be restrained from disposing of wedding gifts, alleged to have been taken unlawfully. The bill has been filed at the East Cambridge court and the order of notice is returnable today.

In her petition she enumerates one large gold watch, one onyx bone brooch, one diamond ring, one diamond watch chain, one glass perfume dish, one carved shell, three cut-glass dishes, one painted silver plate, one painted silver tray, one painted silver tray, one painted silver tray and three embroidered quilts.

The petition states that the articles are her personal property and that Mr. Morgan is a manager of a restaurant in Davis square, West Somerville, and until recently was owner of another on Broadway, Cleveland Hill, the house for the Davis square restaurant standing in the name of his wife.

The Morgan have been married about three years. Mrs. Morgan was Miss Florence S. Wickstead.

Agrees With Mt. Holyoke Head 'Working Way in College Bad' FOR BOSTON MEN

MISS EVELYN WALKER

"It is far better for the average young woman to work for several years and save money for her education than to go to college and try to work her way through."

By EVELYN WALKER.

Young women, do not attempt to get an education by working your way through college. It is a harder way than you think. The burden of keeping up with your college and the burden of making about your expenses. If you want a college education, here is a better way. Don't try to get and to earn your education at the same time.

This is the advice Miss Evelyn Walker, secretary of the American College, gives to the average young woman who wants to go through college.

There are fewer girls working their way through Boston colleges this year. Many girls are saving up their money for a college education, or in not a few cases, are borrowing the money to carry them. By this method they say they get more out of the course than if they had to worry about how they should pay their bills.

Carry Double Burden. "Young women, do not come to college expecting to work your way through by doing something daily that will pay your expenses or help to pay them," advises Miss Walker.

"You are then carrying two burdens, the burden of trying to keep up with your college and the burden of paying your expenses by some daily work. It is far better for a young woman to go to work for several years and save money for her education than to go to college and try to work her way through. The curriculum of study is hard enough for the average girl. To get the best results in her studies she should give her whole attention to them."

"Now there are girls who get something to do in the home where they stay, which pays for their room rent, or is some one else's bill. A young woman may give some of her time to the care of the children in that household, and by this means pay for the larger part of her expenses. But the young woman is not advised to be burdened in this manner. It is best for her to come to college free."

Need Entire Time for Study. "After she has been trying to carry the two burdens for six months, for instance, she will feel what this means, and it often undermines the health so that the young woman is rendered unfit for any work for some time."

"While working the way through college may give one a sense of responsibility, but it is a hard way to get it. It comes the high in many cases."

"When a young girl tries to get an education she should not attempt to do more than that. It is better to prepare fully for college than to imagine that she can do many outside things during college years that will bring her up to her college. Young women must keep their health. They must do this to about the burden of attending to their studies.

The young woman who has to worry or expends when she is in college can do her best. It is better to be in college than to be in a business, and always stand in a disadvantage.

It is wise for every girl to consider the plan of getting an education some time later. It is better to be in college for it than to attempt to earn money to pay for it while getting it.

This is not said with any desire to discourage any one from getting an education and paying for it as you go along. Doing something daily to meet your expense, but it is not recommended, and any special cases should be discouraged."

NOW, MRS. LANGTRY, HOW ABOUT ALL THIS?

Lily Langtry's advice to American men to put more color in their clothes is belated. Here are some of the things they were wearing before she arrived from Europe with her clothing philosophy.

Silk kimono, replacing dressing and lounge robes. White, decorated, with long white sleeves.

Jewelry—cross-hatched and striped shawls. Overcoats—explicated by having "wraps" with kimono sleeves.

Shawls, worn short, suddenly tight, to display and contrast with the shawls. Stockings (not socks) of silk, deep shades, which display socks of highly contrasted lighter shades.

Double-wrapped bow ties, trying down the wings of the collar. Salmons shaded into four-limbs, with gold safety-pin attachments.

Milk galvanized hinges for house coats.

BINS TELLS OF WIRELESS LAW

By JACK BINS. Who achieved fame as wireless operator aboard the steam Republic, Bins was sunk off the Nantuxet Shoals in January, 1909.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The law compelling all steamers leaving United States ports to carry two wireless operators and an auxiliary power independent of the vessel's main electric power plant goes into effect today.

This new law is an amendment of the law of June 24, 1910, which made it compulsory for all vessels going more than 200 miles and carrying fifty or more passengers, including the crew, to be equipped with a wireless installation. The amendment was passed on July 23, and is a result of the report handed down by Senator Smith of Michigan following the Congressional inquiry into the loss of the Titanic.

The law and its requirement is an advance in the right direction, but it is not, in my opinion, sufficient. Following the wreck of the Republic I made a report based upon experience gained after the accident, suggesting that every vessel be equipped with a suitable oil engine, situated on the boat deck, which would drive a small dynamo, which in turn could give adequate power to the wireless plant and allow of normal instead of restricted range of communication. This suggestion I believe would have saved the Titanic disaster, but it has not been taken into account.

It is the duty of the shipping or wireless companies to act, except in the case of the Titanic disaster.

The power obtained by such a dynamo could be used to light up the deck and assist materially in the work of lowering the boats after the accident happen at night, as was the case with the Republic and the Titanic disasters.

It was indicated by Mr. Smith, chief engineer of the Marconi Company, that the new law would cost the shipping companies a quarter of a million dollars. This expense is not a small one, but the lives of the new officers United Wireless Association, which has been fitted with auxiliary sets. These ships were taken over by the Marconi Company during the year.

Every-October Under-Price Sale of Towels

A Boon to Hotels, Boarding Houses and Private Housekeepers

Purchases for this sale were begun when market prices were at their lowest point. The towels we secured then were so low that we could make double profits by omitting this sale altogether and charging regular prices. But our annual events must not, and shall not, be disturbed for speculation. The sale prices on many of the items below are actually less than we ourselves should have to pay the importer at the present time in 50 and 100 dozen lots.

WEEK AT THEATRES

"The Artist" will be the attraction of the Castle Square Theatre next week. It will be the first appearance of William Melrose with Mr. Craig's company.

"Little Boy Blue" will come to the Haymarket next Monday.

"The Dawn of Tomorrow" will be Mr. Coleman's offering at the Haymarket next Monday.

Gertrude Hoffman, in "Broadway to Paris," will be the attraction at the Haymarket next Monday.

A Polish Wedding is announced as the attraction at the Tremont next week.

Hub Theatre.

Country comedies were the rule at the Hub Theatre yesterday, where Joppy and Phiggy, comedians; the Rose Trio, in a comedy sketch; "These Kids at School," and Robert C. Mills, who gave an interesting explanation of physical culture, were seen.

St. James Theatre.

Natie O'Neil began the last week of her engagement at the St. James Theatre last evening, in "Mabel," which many of her admirers consider the most successful play her entire repertoire.

Mrs. O'Neil, who has been giving her on her return and has only recently returned from a tour of the United States, is a young actress who has been playing with the Boston Theatre since her graduation from Harvard, under the name of John O'Neil.

The offering next week will be "The Dawn of Tomorrow."

Globe Theatre.

The current program at the Globe Theatre, the premiere of an all headline bill, and the audience yesterday expressed approval of the entire program. The four comedies headed the list, with dancing serials that held attention. Joppy and Phiggy, comedians; the Rose Trio, in a comedy sketch; "These Kids at School," and Robert C. Mills, who gave an interesting explanation of physical culture, were seen.

St. James Theatre.

"The New College Girls" arrived at the St. James Theatre yesterday. This is the fourth year of this organization and the second, the sponsors, offer an entire new version of the happenings of college life. The story deals with the merry adventures of the father and the son and the daughter and the son.

Why, last week, she testified, "Fred gave me $100." The court agreed that meant about six cents apiece per child and put Dowd on probation.

R. I. PRISON WARDEN IS DANGEROUSLY ILL

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 1.—James P. McCarter, warden of the State prison, is in a serious physical condition at the home of David J. Barry at Diamond Hill. Dr. Harry A. Jones of the State Almshouse and two trained nurses have been with him some days. His condition is dangerous.

ENGLISHMAN HAS A STINGLESS BEE

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The stingless bee is the next product of a man's ingenuity. Mr. Burrows, an apiculturist of Longdon in Kent, after two years of experiment, has obtained a species of bee which can be handled by a child in perfect safety.

MY SON, DECEASED, LOSES FORTUNE

The story of the dramatic meeting of two brothers—one a professor who had been legally dead and one a student who had been legally dead—was the subject of a play at the Haymarket Theatre last evening.

"The Dawn of Tomorrow" will be Mr. Coleman's offering at the Haymarket next Monday.

EXTRA OFFER! 5 DAYS LEFT!

Five days only. Five days and the great Special Offer in the all-New Edition of the Boston American will expire.

This Special Offer has assured the best interest among all contributors.

The offer is of 2,000 votes for every block of ten subscriptions sent to the Contest Editor, P. O. Box 2047, Boston, Mass., before 10 o'clock next Saturday night.

The plan is simple. Suppose you get ten subscriptions, of six months each, to the Boston American.

Each subscription is good for 1,000 votes in the contest. The Contest Editor adds 2,000 votes to the 10,000 votes accumulated, and you are credited with 20,000 votes.

And 5,000 votes are added for EVERY TEN subscriptions you send in, whether they are for six months, twelve months or thirty-six months.

Get a Good Start.

The Contest Editor again urges that subscriptions be sent in immediately, that you be doing back until there are others to come with it. Read each subscription upon receipt, and in this way make sure that your subscription will be on the books in time to make counts of the 25,000 votes in next Sunday's paper.

The reason for the Special Offer, of course, is that before very long the AMERICAN will begin to print the standing of the vote.

You know what that means! The spirit and the enthusiasm of your supporters will rise or fall as your standing is good or inferior in the standing.

It is quite the baseball. You know how eager we have been feeling in New England for some weeks, because every morning the Red Sox led all the way.

Encourage your friends by being in a good position at the start. You can do this by putting on the high up this week and accumulating enough of these Special Offer votes—5,000 in a bundle—

BROCKTON FAIR BEGINS TODAY

The Brockton Fair opened today for a four-day run. Immediately all New England turned Brocktonward. The six Government exhibits are all to be there during the week. The President is to be there. Other celebrities are to be there. And everyone in New England who can get there will see the manifold attractions and the celebrities at the same time.

The greatest event in New England's agricultural life, the Brockton Fair every year serves as a magnet to all New England. Sporting events there are galaxy, cattle, pigs, horses, poultry and pot still are there by the thousands. This year there were more than ever. The fair is promised to surpass in everything the Brockton fair that has gone before.

Once again it is suggested that contributors who care to advertise their cause and advertising is worth as much in this sort of campaign as in any other—right well and their photographs in the Contest Editor, together with a brief notice.

There will be no charge for postage, but contributors must pay for the postage on their own. The Contest Editor has no charge for postage, but contributors must pay for the postage on their own.

The Contest, our friends will be glad to know, continues to be the most successful in the AMERICAN has ever undertaken. NOTICE TO PARTICIPANTS—Take notice that the Special Offer expires at 10 o'clock next Saturday night. For EACH lot of TEN subscriptions received by the Contest Editor before 10 o'clock next Saturday night, 2,000 votes will be given. HAMMERSTEIN TALKS FIGURES

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—"So many false figures have been given out concerning my operative ventures in New York," said Oscar Hammerstein, "that I am forced for the first time in my artistic as well as business career to give out the following statement:

"The season of grand opera, personally inaugurated and conducted by me, in my Manhattan Opera House in 1907-08 without the aid, financially or otherwise, of anybody, and in the face of the most powerful influences and antagonism of the Metropolitan Opera Company, resulted in a profit of $100,000.

"Still He Made Money.
"The next season, with the Philadelphia Opera House, which I secured at a cost of $1,000,000 and on which I took a mortgage of not $400,000, showed a profit of $275,000. The third season brought $284,000 in profit. The fourth season, 1910-11, closed with a loss of $10,000.

"I then erected and still own the London Opera House. The winter season was an absolute success. The summer season was disastrous. I did not withdraw from London on account of the losses, but on account of the impossibility of my conforming myself to the peculiar sentiments of the English."

MRS. BELMONT BUYS FOR OTHER WOMEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—To reduce the cost of living for the common necessities of the wealth or poverty of the individual, Mrs. O. H. Belmont has just inaugurated in her elegant headquarters at No. 15 and 15 West Forty-first street a sale of most and other supplies at wholesale rates, which will be maintained daily. The women who wish to buy may have her order filled when the marketing is done for the households, which accumulates more than 700 subscribers.

DIRECTOIRE MODEL
Narrow skirts not only make the feet more conspicuous, but—worse yet—make them look larger than they are—unless you wear the right kind of a shoe.

This DIRECTOIRE MODEL carries a high arch and short vamp, which fore-shortens the foot.

Although its lines have the fashion-decreed manliness, yet it is slender, shapely and graceful. The cloth top adds a smart custom touch of daintiness.

CONSTITIPATED, BILIOUS, HEADACHY, LIVER TORMID?—CASCARETS SURE
Turn the bowels out—the headache, the biliousness, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight with Cascarets.

Don't put it another day of distress. Let Cascarets sweeten and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas that the crowd bills from your liver and carry off the waste and waste matter and constipation poisons from the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—10-cent box from any drug store will keep your bowels clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel buoyant and cheerful for months. Don't forget the children.

"Seasick Dip" the Latest New Dance Fad in Newport

MRS. CHARLES PHILLIPS HATCH

Makes First Appearance at Party
Given by Mrs. Hatch of New York.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 1.—The turkey trot and the bunny hug are on the shelf for good.

But to their successors—the seasick dip! A part of social Newport invented it and the whole of the "Four Hundred" has adopted it.

Next Winter's ballroom in New York will make the new dance the craze, and it is expected that it will succeed to all the popularity that the West's contribution to legislation high art was for itself.

The seasick dip made its first formal appearance at a dance given by Mrs. Charles Phillips Hatch of New York, at her summer villa in Newport. It took not "inside down," as the sporting editor might put it, in a second time at it took to learn it, everybody was doing it. Now everybody is doing it everywhere else.

One of the delightful things about the seasick dip is its name—it gives the dancer who doesn't see how the wiggling such a picturesque graphic idea of just how to do it. Explanation to even the common or garden variety of dancer is almost unnecessary. If you've ever been seasick or have ever seen some other victim and apply your experience—the early stages of it—the nervousness of your feet, you can't fail to fulfill the main responsibility of the new dip.

Mrs. Hatch, the first sponsor of the seasick dip, is of sufficient eminence in her own right to make the launching of the new dance noteworthy. Before her marriage to Mr. Hatch, who is the son of John Corsetti, was Harriet, of Hartford. She was born in Java, and Mr. Hatch is her second husband. Her first husband was John Mueller of The Hague, who died six years ago.

PRINCESS' TROTH MAY END FEUD

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—It is supposed that Princess Victoria Luise, the Kaiser's only daughter, has fallen in love with and will marry Prince Ernest August, youngest son of the Duke of Cumberland.

It has been the belief that nothing less than a throne would be acceptable to the Kaiser as his daughter's marriage portion, and it even has been strongly hinted that a match might be arranged with Edward, Prince of Wales.

However, if the present rumor be correct, it will end the ancient feud between houses of Cumberland and Hohenzollern, which began over the absorption of the Kingdom of Hanover by Prussia. It is believed that the Duke will renounce his claims to the throne of Hanover, vacated by his father, George V., and that the Kaiser will appoint Prince Ernest as regent of Hanover.

The Prince, who is now twenty-five, is a lieutenant in the Bavarian army. He met the Princess at a court dinner in Berlin.

REAL "TOM BROWN" DIES IN LONDON, AGED EIGHTY-EIGHT

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Rev. Augustus Octavius, vicar of Wellington, who was the original of Tom Brown in "Tom Brown's Schooldays," is dead at the age of eighty-eight.

His death recalls one of the most famous fights in fiction, namely Tom Brown's encounter with "Bludge" Williams, which has ever since been the subject of endless discussion as to who won.

The fight actually occurred, the Rev. Canon Bullock Owen Jones, who believes that neither claimed the victory because both were so badly damaged that they could not be recognized.

BUSONI, PIANIST, IS TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Busoni, the pianist, has been taken suddenly ill. He is suffering from nervous breakdown. He had to cancel an engagement to play in a provincial town.

Welsbach LIGHTING SERVICE

WITH THIS SHIELD
Welsbach Mantles are the most durable gas mantles made. But Welsbach SERVICE means more than merely long life. It means Welsbach Mantles burn brighter, preserve truer color value, and consume less gas than any others.

Each one of these points makes the Welsbach Mantle the cheapest, and the best, and the only one a discriminating buyer should accept.

"CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP."

MONEY EASILY EARNED BY WOMEN AT HOME

By MABEL BARCLAY URV.

Miss Ruth Kendall, who now lives on University road, Brookline, wanted some extra money so she might entertain some friends in a casual way.

From the time she was ten years old she had been cutting out figures from periodicals and selling them in her own way.

In this way she learned something about color and a little bit about drawing. When she wanted extra money it was not natural that she should turn to her own talent, although that talent was well developed.

She designed a special colored postal card and sold it to a manufacturer of novelties, obtaining the small amount of money she needed for her purpose.

That gave her an idea. "If," she said to herself, "I can make money this way without trying, why can I not train myself and make much money?"

Attended Night School.

She soon found a night school where drawing was taught. This school she attended and showed such natural ability that the teacher invited her to use his studio and draw from his models.

She developed so rapidly that she was not long until she became a commercial artist and did special work for Jordan Marsh, developing for them an idea that had come to her as a child when she was cutting out paper dolls.

This idea secured her a position in Wampanoag's store in New York, a place she held for several months. She then returned home and introduced herself to local merchants.

Today she is working for several Boston stores and is fast becoming a well-known artist. She has been making more than $50 a week of late—a rather good salary, you will admit for a girl who has had no training as of the home-made variety.

You may not be able to do what Miss Kendall did, but there is no reason why you cannot do some one thing so well that money will come to you.

Making Over Gowns.

One Medford woman writes:

A friend of mine has found a profitable business in the ripping up, cleaning, pressing and putting into good order for market the old hand-me-downs, expensive, but out of style day or evening gowns, waists, etc., that many fashionable women possess.

The refreshing and mending of hems, trivets, drapes and other trimmings are also features of her business.

New England is the home of good cooking. Aunt Della Torrey is not the only woman who can make a good French Terr. One brave woman in a small town wants you to know how she made her knowledge of cooking to support herself and her family.

Teaches Cooking.

I have lived all my life in a town of 2,500, and have a reputation for being a good cook. When my friends came to my family I organized home cooking classes for the children of my friends, and succeeded beyond my fondest hopes.

I started with two classes, one for girls from twelve to sixteen, and another for older girls and women. I had six in each class, and took them on alternate mornings with outdoor as had had lessons. For the course of two lessons I charged $1 a pupil. Before the first course was half finished other mothers had heard of the success of the instructions and urged me to take their daughters.

The younger girls I taught to prepare vegetable, plain meats and pasta desserts. Those who had some knowledge of the rudiments of cooking I taught more complicated dishes.

I have cleared a surprising sum from my knowledge of the rudiments of cooking. I have been home if she likes to cook.

"First Analyze Yourself."

Before you start out to make money the first work to be done is to analyze yourself—find out what it is that you may be able to do.

Ask yourself, "What can I do to fill the needs of my neighbors? What do they need that I can give?"

Some money-making work is most delightful—as all work should be—when it tells us this.

An acquaintance of mine makes $3 and more on Saturday evenings by taking children to the movies in a motor park, where she always goes with them as a guide.

Miss Elsie H. Nickerson

This is just the time of the year to plan to serve those who are asking them. "I wonder who I can give my friends for Christmas?" The Christmas present problem will grow greater and greater every year. Those who are prepared to help their friends will have little trouble making the extra money they want for their own Christmas expenses.

From a Salem Woman.

Every year thousands of families buy magazines. They subscribe not only for themselves but for friends and relatives. The woman who will help those who subscribe will find that she has made a good thing for herself.

An invalid friend made $8 last week getting subscriptions for magazines. Out of a $1.00 subscription she gets 50 cents, and when the magazine is a desirable one the subscription is not hard to get. She does most of her work by mail and through interested friends.

A friend makes four weeks of revenue, she takes them to various places and makes to order various sizes and styles the customer may desire. They are easily made, using only cottons and linen, and are all the latest of the day. She makes from $4 to $10 a week, does all her own work, and has her evenings and some afternoons for recreation.

SALVATION MAN AND LASSIE ARE WED

William Harry Collins, landowner of the Salvation Army N. E. Providence Road, and Miss Leslie Carter, a member of the Salvation Army, have been united in marriage by Colonel Adam Gifford at Providence, Rhode Island. The ceremony was conducted on the steps, with a host of friends as audience.

SETS LESLIE CARTER FREE FROM DEBTS

RAYMOND, Oct. 1.—Judge Mayer has granted a discharge from insolvency to Caroline L. D. Payne (Mrs. Leslie Carter) and allowed her from debts amounting to $10,543 on a petition filed against her on February 4, 1911. This is the third time in the bankruptcy court, the others being in 1899 and 1907.

MISS NICKERSON, WHO PLIGHTS TROTH IN DIVORCE TOWN

When the Aero Club took up ballooning as a sport, Van Sleet was a chauffeur, also a truck driver, mill hand, and house-painter. He was a member of the North Adams Royal Academy and other local clubs. He was qualified by Leo Rivers of New York as a balloon pilot and was given charge of the balloons of the Pittsfield Aero Club in the spring of 1911. He was then a member of the Aero Club of Pittsfield. Thereafter he sailed away from Pittsfield with many noted persons. Charles J. Childers of Boston said he was the last balloon pilot of the day.

With the arrival of the aeroplane for sky sailing, Van Sleet gave up ballooning and became sole manager of a motor bus.

With the arrival of the aeroplane for sky sailing, Van Sleet gave up ballooning and became sole manager of a motor bus.

When the Aero Club took up ballooning as a sport, Van Sleet was a chauffeur, also a truck driver, mill hand, and house-painter. He was a member of the North Adams Royal Academy and other local clubs. He was qualified by Leo Rivers of New York as a balloon pilot and was given charge of the balloons of the Pittsfield Aero Club in the spring of 1911. He was then a member of the Aero Club of Pittsfield. Thereafter he sailed away from Pittsfield with many noted persons. Charles J. Childers of Boston said he was the last balloon pilot of the day.

RED SOX HAVE FOUR STAR CATCHERS FOR BIG GAMES

The New York Giants, the National League's entrants for the World Series, are in the best of luck. They have stolen more home runs than any other team in the league and have the best batting average of any team. They have also the best record in the league, having won 101 games and lost 53.

Kept Runners Down Close. In the American League the year the Speed boys of the Red Sox have been at the top of the league. They have won 101 games and lost 53.

Fans Rally for Jake Stahl Automobile Fund. Many Contributions Coming in Each Day. The Stahl automobile fund is booming and checks poured in early today like rain.

Cady Has Proud Record. Cady has permitted 24 acrobats and has refused to stand for 21 threats. He has been cut down 23 times and has been hit 23 times.

Young Thomas, who is not likely to be given a chance to play in the World Series, has been hit 23 times and has been cut down 23 times.

STALH MEN FAVORITES IN WORLD SERIES GAMES RED SOX STRONGER THAN GIANTS

If the predictions made by hundreds of so-called experts the country over could for anything, then the Red Sox have the country's most active fans. The great majority of sporting writers and other closely identified with the game favor the Boston team, and the reason is simple. They back up their prophecies by many solid facts.

Wood the Real Hope. Wood has a record for superior to that of any other player. He has won thirty-four games and lost five. There is no man on the team who can lead a crowd.

Working on the principle that pitching will decide the series and that the Red Sox will win the series, the fans are working on the principle that pitching will decide the series and that the Red Sox will win the series.

Red Sox Defense Better. Then, too, the Red Sox defense is better. They have an outfield which is loaded with the greatest in either league.

WORLD SERIES WILL COST MORE THAN SPANISH WAR

By H. M. WALKER. Don't you know that the world's series will cost more than the Spanish war? The total receipts for the six games will be over $1,000,000.

Just for a few moments, now, let us consider the financial returns of the 1912 series. The receipts for the six games will be over $1,000,000.

The first game between the Red Sox and the Giants will be played on Thursday, October 11th, at the Polo grounds.
